Class Description:

This course works toward the completion of Excel's annual yearbook. In class students will construct, compose, and edit all elements of the digitally composed yearbook. Students will work on text layout, graphic art and digital photography. During the course they will create, conduct and record polls, questionnaires and write short articles. Students must work cooperatively with others, be creative and adhere to strict deadlines to complete the project on time. Outside of class time students will help sell and design advertising for the yearbook. Another responsibility will be to collect or take pictures of students in activities during and after school hours.

Designing the Excel T-shirt for the next school year will be another fun creative responsibility of the class. Learning the skills required to design the graphic for the shirts and follow through the production process will give the students a second completed project in this class.
